THE MANAGER

Bob Scheffing

The 1958 season is Bob Scheffing's second at the helm of the Chicago Cubs. And during his first season the determined, likable young manager showed every sign of top-notch leadership ability. In the last third of the 1957 season, the Cubs were second only to the pennant-winning Braves in won-and-lost percentage.

A great record as manager at Los Angeles paved the way to Bob's appointment as Cubs pilot. Taking over the Angels after the 1955 season opened, he steered the team to a 3rd place tie. In 1956, Bob led Los Angeles to the Pacific Coast League pennant by 16 games.

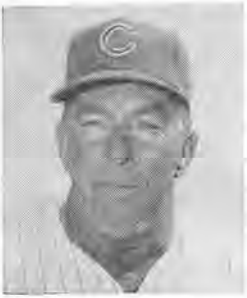
Bob was a catcher with the Cubs from 1941 to 1950 . . . with time out for three years of Navy duty starting in 1943. At the ripe age of 23 he got his first taste of managerial duties, serving as player-manager at Washington, Pa., in 1939. His catching career interrupted by a broken shoulder, Bob played first base that season. Under his leadership the team took 2nd in the Penn State League, then won the post-season playoffs.

With his shoulder fully mended, Bob returned to catching for Rochester in the International League in 1940. The Cubs drafted him at the end of the season. His top year at Wrigley Field was 1948, when he batted an even .300. Always a smart, steady performer behind the plate, Bob batted .263 over his major league career, fielded .984.

In June of 1950, Scheffing was traded to Cincinnati for Ron Northey. He retired as an active player Aug. 1, 1951, joined the St. Louis Browns coaching staff in '52. Bob returned to the Cubs as a coach in 1954, continuing here until he received the call to manage Los Angeles.

THE COACHES

Fred Fitzsimmons — number 33

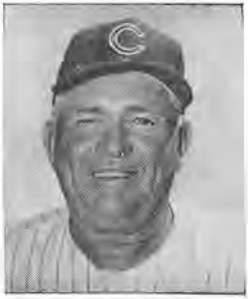


Pitching coaches don't come any better than Fred Fitzsimmons. Prime examples of his talent for improving young pitchers: Dick Drott and Moe Drabowsky. Fitz won 217 games over his outstanding 19-year career with the Giants and Dodgers. His percentage of .889 (16 wins, 2 losses) with the Dodgers in 1940 is a League record. Fred managed the Phillies in 1943-45, coached the Braves (1948) and Giants (1949-55). In '56 he managed Binghamton, coming with the Cubs for the 1957 season.

George Myatt — number 34

Enthusiasm, baseball savvy, and a foghorn voice are the hallmarks for George Myatt. George played short and third with the Giants (1938-39) and Senators (1943-47). A high spot in his career came on May 1, 1944, when he tied a major league record with 6 hits in 6 consecutive times at bat. In 1948 and '49 George managed at Chattanooga and Orlando. He was a coach with the Senators (1950-54) and White Sox (1955-56), then joined the Cubs coaching staff in 1957.

Rogers Hornsby — number 35



A new addition to the coaching staff is Rogers Hornsby, who will specialize in hitting instruction. Hailed in baseball's Hall of Fame as the greatest right-hand hitter of all time, Rog really knows his subject. His lifetime average is .358 in 19 National League seasons, highest in League history. He was batting champion 7 times. And of course he's no stranger to Cubs fans, as four seasons of his fabulous major league career were spent here as player and manager. Rog will also instruct young prospects in the Cubs farm system.

THE 1958 CUBS TEAM

Lee Walls — number 2

OUTFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Age 25. Height 6 ft., 3 in. Weight 205. Married. Home: Palm Springs, Calif.

Walls became a Cub on May 1, 1957, in the deal with the Pirates that also brought Dale Long to Chicago for Gene Baker and Dee Fondy. Lee's overall average for the season with both the Pirates and Cubs was .237. Walls signed with the Pittsburgh organization in 1951, played his first season at Modesto of the California League. He was brought up to the Pirates in 1952 as a third baseman, then was farmed out to Waco and Hollywood. At Hollywood, manager Bobby Bragan moved Walls to the outfield to take advantage of his speed.

Jim Bolger — number 3

OUTFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Age 26. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Weight 185. Married, has two sons. Home: Cincinnati.

Bolger was signed by his hometown Cincinnati Redlegs in 1950 shortly after his graduation from high school, but spent most of his time with the Redlegs organization in the farm system. Jim was farmed out after playing in two Redleg games, returning to the parent club twice before coming to the Cubs. Bolger was obtained by the Cubs in late 1954 in the deal that sent John Klippstein to the Redlegs. After a full season with the Cubs in 1955, Jim was assigned to Los Angeles, where he found himself by hitting .326 and batting in 147 runs.

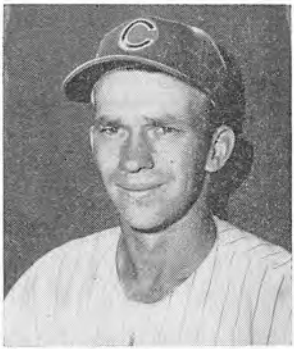
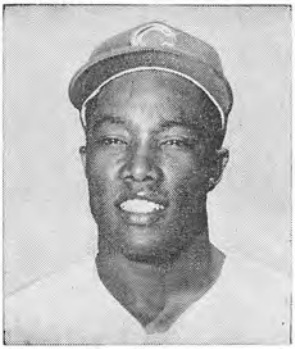
Goryl was brought up from Memphis near the end of the 1957 season and played third base in nine games for the Cubs.



John Goryl 4

Lee Walls 2



Tony Taylor 5

Jim Bolger 3

Chuck Tanner 6

He hit .301 for Memphis while playing 147 games as a shortstop. John has played most of his pro career within the Braves' system, starting in 1951 with Bluefield of the Appalachian League. Goryl was drafted by Los Angeles in the winter of 1956 and sent to Memphis. John has also seen action in the outfield and at second base.

Tony Taylor — number 5

INFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Age 22. Height 5 ft., 9 in. Weight 170. Single. Home: Matanzas, Cuba.

A speedster with quite a reputation on the base paths for his daring tactics, Tony Taylor came to the Cubs by draft from the Minneapolis roster last December. On the strength of the great winter season he was enjoying in the Cuban League, where he was one of the top hitters, several clubs had made Tony number one on their draft lists. Taylor can play second, short, or third, and spent about half his time at Dallas last season at third. He signed his first pro contract with Texas City in 1954.

Chuck Tanner — number 6

OUTFIELDER. Bats Left. Throws Left. Age 28. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Weight 185. Married, has two children. Home: New Castle, Penna.

This fellow is one of the game's top hustlers, and when the Cubs had the opportunity to secure his services via the waiver route early last season they jumped at it. Chuck was picked up from the Braves June 8, which enabled him to play in 95 games for the Cubs before season's end. Tanner was around the Braves' farm system for a number of years before he was brought up in 1955. Chuck started with Owensboro in the Kitty League in 1946 and played in the high minors for about four years before moving to the big time. Tanner hit .286 in 95 games after joining the Cubs last season.

OUTFIELDER. Bats Left. Throws Right. Age 32. Height 6 ft., 2 in. Weight 205. Single. Home: St. Paul, Minn.

Moryn played in 149 games last season, second only to Ernie Banks, and the husky outfielder was next to Banks also in runs batted in with 88, and second to Dale Long in batting percentage with .289. The Cubs acquired Walt's services from Brooklyn in December of 1955 in the deal involving Ransom Jackson. This was Moryn's first move out of the Dodger organization since he began his career with Sheboygan of the Wisconsin State League in 1948. "The Moose" was in the higher classifications in the Dodger system from 1952 on. He spent most of the 1955 season with St. Paul.

Dale Long — number 8

FIRST BASEMAN. Bats Left. Throws Left. Age 32. Height 6 ft., 4 in. Weight 210. Married. Home: North Adams, Mass.

Long was signed out of semi-pro ball in 1944 by Casey Stengel, who was managing Milwaukee at the time. After seven years in the lower classifications, he was drafted by Pittsburgh for 1951 delivery. In mid-season the same year he moved over to the St. Louis Browns, but returned to the Pirates' organization with New Orleans in 1952. Dale came to the Cubs, along with Lee Walls, for Gene Baker and Dee Fondy on May 1 last season. Long wrote baseball history May 28, 1956, when he hit his 8th home run in 8 consecutive games—a new major league record. Dale's composite average with Pittsburgh and the Cubs last season was .298, highest on the Cubs.

came to the Cubs during the 1958 spring training season. He was acquired on April 3 from San Francisco in a deal that sent Bob Speake to the Giants. A timely hitter, Thomson has batted in 872 runs in 12 major league seasons, even though he has seen limited action in several seasons due to injuries. He has 227 major league home runs. Bob started his baseball career with Bristol, Va., in 1942.

Elvin Tappe — number 10

CATCHER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Age 29. Height 5 ft., 11 in. Weight 180. Married, has two sons and a daughter. Home: Quincy, Ill.

Here is one of the best defensive catchers in baseball today. El's weakness at the plate has thwarted his previous attempts to remain in the majors, but his ability behind the bat, especially the way he handles his pitchers, has kept him high in the Cubs' system. Tappe made his first appearance in a Cub uniform in 1954 after starting his pro career in 1947 with Henderson of the Lone Star League. Tappe played with Los Angeles in 1956 and '57.

CATCHER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Age 29. Height 6 ft., 2 in. Weight 190. Married, has a son. Home: East St. Louis, Ill.

The Cubs made no mistake when they made Neeman their number one draft choice following the 1956 season. Cal, who was plucked out of the New York Yankee organization and was reputed to be the first draft choice of three other clubs, became the Cub's number one catcher in his first major league season. Neeman signed on to the Yankee chain in 1949 with Joplin of the Western Association. Cal spent the 1951 and '52 seasons in the service and moved up to the International League in the Yankee system before he was drafted from the Denver roster.

Newest of the Cub outfielders, Dick Johnson was promoted from Ft. Worth on June 15, 1958. Dick was one of 18 farm-system players invited to attend the Cubs early instructional camp at Mesa this spring. There he came in for special attention from Rogers Hornsby, who tabbed him as having real potential as a hitter. Assigned to Ft. Worth, Johnson hit .297 in 48 games this season. A pre-law graduate of Duke University, where he starred in baseball and basketball, Dick started out in the Cubs' farm system at Des Moines in 1952. He was in the Air Force in '54 and '55.

Ernie Banks — number 14

INFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Age 27. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Weight 170. Married. Home: Chicago.

Ernie played 10 games at shortstop with the Cubs at the end of the 1953 season after his purchase from the Kansas City Monarchs. And since that time, Banks has been an almost constant fixture in the Cubs line-up. In fact, after joining the club Ernie played 424 consecutive games before being stopped by a finger infection in August of the 1956 season. This was not only a Cubs consecutive-game record, but also a major league record for consecutive games played after first breaking into a major league lineup. In 1955, Ernie set an all-time major league record by hitting five home runs with the bases loaded. In the same season, he set a new record for most home runs by a shortstop. Ernie hit 44 that year. Last season his total of 43 homers led the Cubs for the third year in a row.

One of the top young catching prospects, Taylor moved to the Cubs during the winter, along with Taylor Phillips, when Rush, Kaiser and Haas were sent to Milwaukee. Although he started out in 1950 with Hi-Point-Thomasville of the North Carolina State League, he has had only three years in professional ball. Sam stayed out of baseball in 1951 and spent the next four years in the navy. At Guam and Hawaii he was a service sensation, hitting 21 homers in 88 games during 1954 and 1955.

Alvin Dark — number 17

INFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Age 35. Height 6 ft. Weight 180. Married, has four children. Home: Lake Charles, Louisiana.

The Cubs gained the aggressive spirit and all-around ability of Alvin Dark on May 20 of the current season in a deal with the Cardinals involving Jim Brosnan. The new Cub third baseman is a sharp hitter, famous for his ability to spray the ball to all fields. The Braves, then in Boston, signed Dark for a $40,000 bonus in 1946 off the Louisiana State campus, where he starred in baseball and football. Farmed out to the Milwaukee Brewers in '47, he returned to the majors in '48 and has been a standout ever since. He sparked three pennant winners —the Braves in '48 and the Giants in '51 and '54—and has played on three All Star teams.

Dick Drott — number 18

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Age 22. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Weight 185. Single. Home: Cincinnati.

Drott, who set many strikeout records in the minor leagues, totaled 170 in his first major league season, as well as winning 15 games against 11 defeats. Dick set the National League on its ear by throwing three shutouts in his freshman year. And in those three games allowed a total of only 11 hits. Drott also set a new Cubs' single-game strikeout record when he fanned 15 Braves on May 26. This topped the previous high of 13 shared by Lon Warneke in 1934 and Sam Jones in 1956. Dick broke into pro ball in 1954 with Cedar Rapids of the Three-I League and also played with Des Moines, Burlington and Los Angeles before moving to the Cubs.

The Cubs brought this left-hander up from Portland on June 13 this year to add relief pitching strength. At Portland, Bill pitched in relief in 17 games. He had 5 wins against 3 losses, and saved a number of games. Bill came into the Cubs system when the Los Angeles Angels got him from the San Francisco Seals for Frank Kellert after the '56 season. Assigned to Memphis, he came up with a 14-6 record. Bill started out with

Dave Hillman — number 21

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Age 30. Height 5 ft., 11 in. Weight 168. Married, has a daughter and a son. Home: Kingsport, Tenn.

Dave has been up and down but always near to the top of the Cubs organization since 1955, when he first made an appearance in the majors. With the 1957 season less than a month old, he was transferred to Portland on option, but was recalled to don a Cub uniform again on June 3. Hillman started with the Cubs organization at Rock Hill in the Tri-State League in 1950. Dave has pitched two no-hitters in professional ball—one for Rock Hill in 1951, and a 7-inning perfect game against Toronto while with Springfield in the International League. In 1956, Hillman won 21 games for Los Angeles.

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Age 23. Height 6 ft., 2 in. Weight 190. Married. Home: Wilson, Conn.

In his first full season with the Cubs after signing a bonus contract in 1956, Drabowsky rolled up a record of 13 and 15 with his best pitching of the year during the last two months of the 1957 campaign. Moe struck out 89 batters from July 30 to the end of season and a total of 170 for the year. Five of his defeats came in the last two months, but he allowed only one earned run in one game, two earned runs in two of the losses, and three and four in the other two. Drabowsky was born in Poland and came to this country when he was three years old. He starred in baseball at Trinity College.

Gene Fodge — number 24

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Age 26. Height 6 ft. Weight 170. Married, has a son. Home: South Bend, Ind.

Fodge saw action with three clubs in 1957, dividing his time almost evenly among Ft. Worth, Portland, and Memphis. During 1956, Gene won 19 games while losing only 7 at Los Angeles, his .731 percentage being second only to that of teammate Dave Hillman. Gene opened his professional baseball career in 1951 with Janesville, Wis. While in the Marine Corps in 1952-53 he was named to the Marine All-Stars, with a 17-7 record at El Toro Air Station.

Glen Hobbie — number 28

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Age 22. Height 6 ft., 3 in. Weight 198. Single. Home: Witt, Ill.

On the basis of his performance at Memphis last season, Hobbie was one of the most sought-after young pitching prospects in baseball. The Cubs bought his contract at a substantial figure, and he was brought up to Chicago in the closing days of the 1957 season. Glen won 15 and lost 15 at Memphis, and five of those wins were registered in the course of ten days. This will be Hobbie's fourth season in a professional career which began with Charleston, W. Va., in 1955. He was signed after winning 22 games, against 2 losses, with the Hillsboro, Ill., team in an amateur league.

On the basis of Johnny's fine record in the Pacific Coast League in 1955 (15 won and 15 lost with a last place club), the Cubs bought his contract from Sacramento, outbidding all other major league clubs. He saw limited service in relief with the Cubs in the spring of '56, and near the close of the '57 season, pitching also for Los Angeles (Pacific Coast League), Portland, and Ft. Worth in those seasons. A recurrence of arm trouble held him back this spring, and the Cubs assigned him to Ft. Worth in mid-May. Johnny came through with a 2-1 record, striking out 11 in one game and 12 in another, and was recalled to Wrigley Field June 10.

PITCHER. Throws Left. Bats Left. Age 28. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Weight 185. Home: Monterrey, Mexico.

The pitching sensation of the Texas League this year, Solis was brought up from Ft. Worth on July 15. With the season little more than half over, he had won 15 games, with only 2 losses. Solis came into the Cubs farm system when the Pueblo club drafted him from Saltillo (Central Mexico League) last winter. Off his fine showing at the Mesa spring training camp he was moved up to Ft. Worth. Solis started out at Sweetwater, Texas, in 1952, and pitched for El Paso in '53. Inactive in '54 due to a sore arm, he saw limited duty with Monterrey, Mexico, in '55 and early '56. Transferred to Saltillo, he started clicking with an 11-5 mark in '56 and 15-9 in '57.

Don Elston — number 36

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Age 29. Height 6ft., 1 in. Weight 180. Married. Home: Winnetka, Ill.

In 1957 Elston became the Cubs' most effective relief pitcher, following his purchase from Brooklyn early in the season. Don broke into the game with the Cubs farm system at Elizabethton in 1948. In 1952 he won 18 and lost 6 at Sioux Falls, and had a 17 and 6 record at Los Angeles before being dealt to the Dodgers after the 1955 season. He spent most of 1956 at St. Paul, and returned to the Cubs when his contract was reacquired from the Dodgers on May 23, 1957.

1957 Season Highlights

Longest Cubs winning streak in 1957 was 6 games. The club accomplished the six-in-a-row mark twice during the season. Longest losing streak was 9 games.

Most runs scored in a game was 12 on June 22 against the Giants. The Cubs have already eclipsed this in 1958 by trimming the Los Angeles Dodgers 15-2 on April 24.

Most Cub home runs in a game in '57 was 4 against the Pirates on Sept. 14, Banks getting three of them.

Walt Moryn had the longest batting streak, hitting safely in 19 consecutive games.

Ernie Banks led the club in home runs with 43, and also in runs batted in with 102. Ernie's home run total was just one behind Hank Aaron, the '57 league leader.

Top Cubs batting average in '57 was registered by Dale Long, who hit .305 after joining the club in the deal with Pittsburgh. His composite average for the season was .298.

Dick Drott was the Cubs' winningest pitcher with 15 victories against 11 losses. Moe Drabowsky was second in total wins, with 13 wins and 15 losses.

On May 26 Drott struck out 15 Braves to set an all-time record for Cub pitchers.

Lee Walls "hit for the cycle" on July 2, getting a single, double, triple and home run against Cincinnati.

Highlights of Cubs History

Now in their 83rd season, the Cubs are the only National League club today that has operated continuously in the same city ever since the League was founded in 1876 as baseball's first major league.

In 82 National League seasons, the Cubs have played 11,653 games. They won 6,219 of them for an all-time percentage of .540. Only other club with more than 6,000 wins was the New York Giants with 6,088 in 76 seasons.

Founder of the Cubs (first known as the White Stockings) was A. G. Spalding, pitcher and manager, who later headed the National League. He also established the famous sporting goods firm bearing his name.

Cubs in the Baseball Hall of Fame are:

Joe McCarthy (manager only)

The Cubs have won 16 National League championships, second only to the Giants, with 17.

All-time major league record for games won in a season was set by the Cubs in 1906 with 116 victories that season.

Under the leadership of Charlie Grimm, the Cubs won 21 games in a row in 1935 to clinch the pennant that year.

Ernie Banks holds the all-time major league record for grand slam home runs in a season, hitting 5 homers with the bases loaded in 1955.

Hack Wilson set the all-time National League record for home runs in one season in 1930, hitting 56 round-trippers. Hack batted in 190 runs that season, an all-time major league record.

Over 23 National League seasons, Rogers Hornsby hit for a .358 average, highest in League history.

Cubs Training Field at Mesa

Building for the Future

The Chicago Cubs have launched a new program to provide the best and fastest possible development of young players. This program spells real opportunity for talented young men who are aiming for a career in major league baseball.

Key features of the program include:

(1) A compact, streamlined farm system of 8 clubs. This insures individual attention for young players. It also means that the player with ability won't get lost in the shuffle. He can be sure of moving up to the major league club as quickly as his development warrants.

(2) Guidance and training by experienced managers specially selected because they like to work with youngsters. Cubs' farm system managers include such top-notchers as Lou Klein, Tommy Heath, Ray Mueller, and Hershel Martin.

(3) A skilled special instructional staff. This includes Rogers Hornsby, greatest right-hand hitter of all-time, as chief hitting instructor; and Vedie Himsl, who has a world of teaching savvy and experience, as chief pitching instructor.

(4) A modern, well-equipped spring training base in the wonderful climate of Arizona. Cub major league and farm system players train at the spring camp in Mesa.

The accent on youth in the Cubs' organization carries right through to the top. Manager of the major league club is Bob Scheffing, who was described in The Sporting News for April 30, 1958, in these words: "There is no pilot in the major leagues today with the faith in youngsters that Scheffing has."

The Cubs' development program is under the over-all supervision of John Holland, one of the youngest and most aggressive of baseball's top executives. Gene Lawing, another capable young baseball executive, directs farm system operations. Charlie Grimm, with a great record as player and manager, keeps special tab on young prospects. Clarence Rowland adds the benefit of long experience in all phases of the game.

Facts about Wrigley Field

The home of the Chicago Cubs, located in a residential section on Chicago's north side, has long been famous as "beautiful Wrigley Field."

The Cubs moved to this location from their west side park in 1916. At that time the park had 14,000 seats. A constant program of improvement and modernization has been under way ever since.

The stands were doubled-decked in 1926 and 1927. In 1938, in order to provide greater comfort for the fans, the club put in wider seats in the boxes and grandstand. This reduced the seating capacity by several thousand.

Today Wrigley Field provides fans with a comfortable seating capacity totaling 36,755.

The club takes pride in presenting its games in pleasant, attractive surroundings. To maintain a real park-like atmosphere, there are no advertising signs on the outfield walls or scoreboard. Every effort is made to keep the stands spic and span and the playing field in the finest possible condition.

For some years the ball park was known as Cubs Park. It was renamed Wrigley Field in honor of the late William Wrigley Jr., who acquired an interest in the club in 1916, became majority owner in 1919, and led the club to National League pennants in 1919 and 1929.

Wrigley Field covers a total area of 7.7 acres. The park is bounded by Addison St. on the south, Clark St. and the C. M. & St. P. railroad tracks on the west, Waveland Ave. on the north, and Sheffield Ave. on the east.

How to get tickets:

Reserved box seat tickets for all games through the end of the season available by mail. Just send your order to Ticket Manager, Wrigley Field, Chicago 13, Ill. 25,000 grandstand and bleacher tickets go on sale the morning of every game at 10:30.

You can also buy tickets in advance at the Wrigley Field ticket office at Addison and Sheffield; at Lytton's downtown, State and Jackson; and at United Air Lines ticket offices.

How to get to the park:

Located at Clark and Addison Sts., 3600 North, 1000 West. Clark-Wentworth and Addison buses take you to main gates. North Side "L" trains take you to ¼ block from ball park (Addison station).

The flags of Wrigley Field:

Old Glory always flies from the centerfield masthead, highest point in the park.

Before and during each game, eight pennants, one for each club in the National League, fly from the yardarms in the order of the League standings on the morning of the game—the first place team's pennant on top at the left, the 8th place team's pennant on the bottom at the right.

The blue "W" (Won) flag, or white "L" (Lost) flag, on yardarm, shows the outcome of the day's game to fans passing by on their way home from work.

The Chicago Cubs flag—red and white on a blue background—displays 16 red stars representing the Club's 16 National League Championships. The two blue stars represent the Club's two World Championships.
